Enjoy two contrasting talks:

Firstly, learn about Mancetter’s role as a town of front line strategic importance during the early years of the Roman invasion with Martin Saunders of the Roman Mancetter Visitor Centre. Discover the fascinating stories of Celtic Queen Boudica’s last battle which many believe took place nearby, and view the archaeological finds on display.

After refreshments, hear from WLHS member and Warwickshire History Editor Andrew Watkins about the history of the medieval town and guild, all within this beautifully maintained late medieval church which served the town of Atherstone, and houses the town's guild and chantry chapels inside.

There will be some free time to explore the church and Roman Mancetter exhibition. The venue is fully accessible with free parking.
